Privacy Policy

RESPECTING YOUR RIGHT TO PRIVACY AT DIGGERS @ THE ENTRANCE

Protecting your privacy and the confidentiality of your “personal information” is a high priority for diggers.

Personal information with regards to this website and all diggers online portals (and any other diggers printed materials) means information we hold about you from which we can search for and retrieve your identity. For example, we may collect and use your name and address details when you acquire or use particular diggers products or services. diggers understand that providing your personal information imposes a serious responsibility upon us. We are committed to protecting your personal information. Where your personal information may be disclosed, and to the extent that we can, we believe in giving you a choice as to whom we may disclose your personal information to, and how these third parties may use your personal information for direct marketing.

Collecting your personal information

We collect personal information directly from you, and only to the extent necessary to deliver and ensure a diggers product or service. We may choose to collect personal information from you when you fill in an application form, both in hard copy format or online via our website, or over the telephone.

We will always attempt to collect personal information from you using lawful and fair means, and not in an unlawful manner. The type of personal information we may collect from you generally comprises name, address, gender, contact details (including phone, fax and email).

How we make us of your personal information diggers will collect your personal information in order to provide you with, or give you access to, a particular diggers product or service. diggers may choose to disclose your personal information for the main purpose for which we collect it, with such disclosure reasonably expected by you. Some of these examples include, but are not limited to:

- Helping diggers to develop a stronger relationship with you
- Internal membership management, accounting and finance
- Administrative reporting
- Protecting you and diggers from fraud
- As part of a diggers campaign

Occasionally, we may also disclose your personal information for the purposes of facilitating the distribution of marketing materials to you by diggers employing a third party. We will not do this if you ask us not to do so. There are other situations where we are compelled by law to disclose your personal information. For instance, under certain circumstances we may be compelled to provide your personal information to law enforcement agencies, the Australian Electoral Office, the Department of Family Services or the Australian Taxation Office.

Direct Marketing

diGGERS may use the personal information we collect from you to identify particular diGGERS products and services, which we believe may be of interest and benefit to you, such as from third parties. This may include such activities as competitions, policy announcements, campaigns or to hear about shows and entertainment from diGGERS, our community partners or affiliated sponsors. We may then contact you to let you know about these products and services. If you do not wish to receive this direct marketing information from diGGERS, please let us know.

Quality and accuracy of your personal information

If we have accurate personal information about you, it enables us to provide you with the best possible service. diGGERS will take reasonable steps to ensure the personal information we collect, use and disclose is accurate, complete and up-to-date. If you find that the personal information we hold about you is inaccurate, incomplete or out-of-date, please contact us immediately and we will take reasonable steps to correct it.

diGGERS Campaigns

diGGERS conducts various campaigns and from time to time may use your contact details to update you on the status of a campaign. Likewise diGGERS may also use your details for specific petitions on campaigns. If you have signed a petition, your details may be used for instances such as presenting this information to members of Parliament. If you do not wish for diGGERS to contact you via phone or email during or campaign or present a petition you have signed, please let us know.

Security of your information diGGERS takes reasonable steps to protect your personal information from loss, misuse, unauthorized disclosure or destruction.

Cookies on diGGERS website

A 'cookie' is a packet of information that allows the diGGERS server (the computer that houses our web site) to identify and interact more effectively with your computer.

When you access our website, we send you a 'temporary cookie' that gives you a unique identification number. A different identification number is sent each time you use our web site. Cookies do not identify individual users, although they do identify a user's internet browser type and your internet service provider. Our cookie allows us to keep track of the pages you have accessed while visiting our web site. It also allows you to page back and forwards through our website and return to pages you have already visited without requiring you to log in to our home page again.

You can configure your internet browser to accept all cookies, reject all cookies or notify you when a cookie is sent. Please refer to your internet browser's instructions or help screens to learn more about these functions.
